Layla Thought She Had It All

Out of all The Crazy Cat Ladies, Layla seems to have it all. Not only does she look like a fairytale princess, but she's got the perfect Prince Charming at her side, too.

That is, until Prince Charming turns out to be a royal cheater! As if Layla's life isn't enough of a dumpster fire, a new boss is taking over the vet clinic where she works.

Prem Dhawan is grumpy as they come and adamant about squeezing all the joy and happiness out of the clinic in the name of cutting costs. He's also sinfully handsome (when he isn't frowning) and a great vet who cares deeply for his animal patients.

Can a surly vet with a heart of gold mend Layla's broken soul? And what happens when Prince Charming asks for a second chance?

If you love grumpy + sunshine slow burn romances, pick up your copy of The Purrfect Vet, Book 3 in The Crazy Cat Lady Club Series.

- Simmers with slow-burn romance that'll make you swoon

Meet Alanna: A woman on a mission for revenge against the business partner who stabbed her in the back. She's retreated to small-town Yucca Hills to plot her comeback, but fate has other plans...

Enter one mischievous "demon cat" (adopted under, ahem, questionable circumstances) and a distractingly handsome handyman working on her mother's house.

Can laid-back Sully break through Alanna's walls? Will she choose love over vengeance? And most importantly – will she finally embrace the crazy cat lady life?

Don't miss this chance to start your Crazy Cat Lady journey for less than a dollar. If you already love The Purrfect Handyman, tell your friends about the sale!

Remember: Don't drink and adopt... but definitely drink and read! ☐☐

Cat Pic!

Just a picture of Midnight being absolutely adorable in her favorite cat tower. She is our tree cat. We almost never see her on the ground. Instead, she reigns over several of the cat trees and elevated cat beds in the house. While she's not a lap cat (yet), she always finds her way into any room we're in just to keep an eye on things.
